ANDREA SMITH is Associate Professor of Media and Cultural Studies at UC Riverside. She is a co-founder of Incite! Women of Color Against Violence, the Boarding School Healing Coalition, and the Critical Ethnic Studies Association. She is co-editor of the upcoming anthology, Theorizing Native Studies (Duke University Press) and author of Native Americans and the Christian Right: The Gendered Politics of Unlikely Alliances (2008) and Conquest: Sexual Violence and American Indian Genocide (2005). She is also the co-editor of the Color of Violence: The INCITE! Anthology (2006).

About SJI:

The Social Justice Initiative was established out of Hart Hall in 2012, following widely and diversely expressed social justice concerns arising from the pepper spray incident of November 2011. The first major public event launching this initiative was the campus rally at which Angela Davis addressed over 2,000 concerned members of the Davis community. This launch event builds on this legacy and works to create a larger campus dialogue among faculty and students in or affiliated with ethnic and gender studies at UC Davis. The co-directors of this three-year Mellon funded Social Justice Initiative are: Amina Mama, Inés Hernández-Avila, and Yvette Flores.
